Supongamos que tengo un radio button que marca un color de la casilla con el color ya escrito con ese radio button. Supongo que se podría compilar algo como esto pero no se si dejará el atributo "checked" así como está, o tendría que añadir algún "onclick" que cambie de color, en el caso de que cuando el usuario clique el radio button, no marque el color que tiene escrito ese radio button. HTML CODIGO JS $(" #escuela1").click(function () { alert("hello"); }); Estoy agregando una función al radio button para que al pulsarlo, me muestre una alerta, pero quiero que cuando el usuario pulse el radio button, el radio button cambie de color. A: He encontrado un ejemplo de aceptar los input:radio que están seleccionados de la misma manera en la documentación oficial de Mozilla Developer Network. Para esto en tu caso sería lo siguiente: $('input:radio').click(function() { if ($(this).is(':checked')) { $(this).attr('checked', false);
